

Vocational rehabilitation—biopsychosocial and health-promoting factors

23–27 January 2006, Höör (Sweden)

The first international course on biopsychosocial and health-promoting factors in vocational rehabilitation is being organized by the Nordic Institute for Advanced Training in Occupational Health (NIVA), and it will be held on 23–27 January 2006 in Höör, Sweden.

The main objectives of the course are to increase preventive strategies for returning to work, to develop optimal health-promoting and occupational rehabilitation interventions for health providers and rehabilitation actors, and to promote the importance of teamwork and cooperation between rehabilitation professionals and health care providers.

The course is meant for occupational health professionals, physicians, psychologists, physiotherapists, engineers, occupational therapists, and researchers in this area.
